

Your first live poll in 5 minutes

PULS is a tool for interactive presentations: you ask questions, the audience votes via a code on their own phone, and results appear live on the screen. No accounts, no installation — just a browser.

As the host you only need a laptop with a projector; the audience needs a smartphone. You can save this page as a PDF or print it via „Download PDF“ in the top right.

1

Create a presentation

Open the start page, enter a title under „Create a new presentation“ and click Create. You immediately get a presenter link and a six-digit access code for your audience.

- The presenter link is your private editing and control link — only for you.
- Your presentations reappear on the same device under „My presentations“.

☒ Collect names (participants enter their name when joining)
Names appear on Q&A and open answers. When off, everything stays anonymous.

☐ Self-paced (participants move through the slides themselves)
Instead of presenter-controlled, each person moves through all slides at their own pace.
